The Presbytery of Long Island believes that all Presbyterians – members and guests – should feel safe in their respective congregations, and that our churches should enable people to share their stories and pursue peace. This is especially important wherever brokenness exists.

We are preparing an official response to the #metoo movement. Our first step in addressing the current needs and concerns of Presbytery members (clergy, elders, and all congregation members) is to host a small group discussion led by a panel before the next Presbytery meeting.

This will be an opportunity to share stories, ask questions, and offer suggestions for our process.
